Background
It is the responsibility of ship owners, charterers and all industry stakeholders to ensure that their ships are able to complete voyages safely. Therefore, vetting inspections are a must. However, vetting requirements are extensive and updated regularly, and the consequences of vetting failure are significant: casualties, delays, rising costs. It is difficult to keep an overview of these changing requirements and allocate enough resources to ensure compliancy.

Full vetting support from DNV GL
We offer vetting advisory to ship owners and operators to further improve their vetting performance. Our aim is to also optimize time and costs for vetting inspections. By relying on DNV GL for your vetting needs, you are choosing a reliable partner who can help you to stay updated on the latest developments, to demonstrate compliancy with the requirements and to effectively take the correct measures.

VETTING SUPPORT SERVICE

Be well prepared for your next vetting inspection!

Let DNV GL assist you in verifying that your ships are built and operating in compliance with cargo owners’ vetting requirements. Our extensive network of specially trained surveyors and auditors are there for you across the globe.
Our cost-efficient vetting support service applies to both newbuildings and ships in operation:

Newbuildings
- All arrangement and equipment (non-operational) requirements from the Oil Companies International Marine Forum’s (OCIMF’s) SIRE Vessel Inspection Questionnaire (VIQ), and other specific requirements from cargo owners
- Evaluation of drawings and documentation for compliance with a predefined scope
- Final verification of compliance at the site by the newbuilding surveyor – issuance of Statement of Compliance

Ships in operation
- Pre-vetting inspections, with support for your onshore vetting team
- Vetting training to crew and superintendents
- A systematic approach to control the vessel’s condition
- Preparation for the latest developments in the vetting regime
- Analysis and benchmarking through a vetting database

Profit from our competence
Leverage the in-depth competence and experience of our vetting experts to keep your business running:
- Reduce the off-hire of your tanker
- Reduce costs associated with the failure to pass inspection
- Profit from our expert support in the continuous improvement towards compliant operation
- Enjoy smooth, efficient vetting procedures on site, wherever you are and even at short notice
